DESCRIPTION OF GARDEN SEEDS

Profusion Beans, Bush—Very early productive, rich and tender, perfectly stringless.

TABLE BEETS

Early Blood Turnip—Good for early or late.

CABBAGE

Early Jersey Wakefield—The best early variety we have tested, produces large, solid heads.

Danish Baldhead—One of the best late cabbages.

LETTUCE

Deacon Head—Heads are large, keep in eating order for a long time.

SQUASH

Delicious—A winter variety, medium size, finest quality of any we have tried.

Hubbard—Old reliable sort.

ONIONS

Red Globe Onion Seed—Medium size, sure producer.

Yellow Danvers—One of the leading varieties.

WATERMELLON

Kleckley's Sweet—Large, fine quality.

Ice Cream—Early.

PARSNIP

Improved Hollow Crown—None better.

PEAS

Nott's Excelsior—Early blue wrinkled.

Premium Gem—Medium early.

Telephone—Pods and peas both large, quality fine.

RADISH

Early Scarlet Turnip—One of the best varieties grown.

Early White Box—Fine quality.

French Breakfast—White tipped, makes quick growth.

TOMATOES

Isbel's Earlibell—Best early tomato we have tried, very smooth and productive.

MUSKMELLON

Early Hackensack—Large, fine quality, green fleshed.

Osage—Good market variety, yellow fleshed.

SWEET CORN

Harris Early—One of the best early varieties I have tested. Prolific and sweet.

Evergreen—The old reliable for late use.

FIELD SEEDS

Oats Sensation—We have been growing this variety for 18 years. Has given us good satisfaction both in yield and standing up well.

I will have some good seed corn—Minnesota No. 13 Early. Ears good size, grown in central Minnesota.

Golden Glow—A good medium early variety.

Whitecap Yellow Dent—These 3 varieties good for husking.

I will also have good silage corn of both red cob and yellow dent, and some good Michigan grown corn.

POTATOES

Early Ohio—Write for prices.

BUCKWHEAT

Silverhull, Japanese and Millet—At market prices.

All varieties seed tested for germination which makes them more valuable to purchaser.

GRASS SEEDS

Alsike—Has more than twice as many seeds in a pound as medium or mammoth clovers. Therefore sow half the quantity. Where ground is wet or sour Alsike will do better than medium clover. Where conditions are right and plenty of lime and the proper bacteria are in the soil, one can mix alfalfa seed with other seeding on wheat ground in the spring; also with oats or barley with very satisfactory results.

Farmers, sow more alfalfa. I do not handle foreign grown alfalfa or clover seed.

ORCHARD GRASS

The great pasture grass once established will remain in the soil for many years. Will come the first of any grass in the spring; also grown right through the season when some other grasses are drying up. I handle alfalfa, medium mammoth and alsike clover and all kinds of field seeds. I handle the best grade of seed I can buy, and sell at reasonable prices.

I handle Northwestern grown alfalfa, Idaho, some Montana. Can get Grimm, or Canadian variegated seed, if farmers give me time to order it before they want to sow it.
